

ETICS are an architectural design element

There are attractive and unattractive buildings both with and without ETICS. For some time now, a host of ESP facade profiles such as window and door frames, window sills, fascia profiles, cornices, keystones and bosses as well as decorative elements have been available as architectural design elements for facades. Now nothing stands in the way of the desired objective of attractive new homes or lovingly restored older buildings.

Photo: Spa hotel Lutzmannsburg

- A new facade improves the visual appearance of buildings that are in need of renovation.

Photo: Dwelling house Rankweil-Schleipweg before renovation

Photo: Dwelling house Rankweil-Schleipweg after renovation